Francis C. Imbriale

September 1, 1954 – July 20, 2025

Francis C. Imbriale, 70, passed away peacefully on Sunday, July 20, surrounded by those who loved him.

Born in Brooklyn on September 1, 1954, Francis built a life marked by hard work, determination, and deep love for his family. A successful real estate entrepreneur and business owner, he brought passion and persistence to everything he did. He was a man who followed his convictions and lived life on his own terms—steadfast and unwavering in all he believed.

Francis's heart belonged to his family. He is survived by his devoted wife Debra, loving daughter Nicole, proud son Ryan, son-in-law Ilya, and his cherished grandchildren, Aurora and Nikko. He was also a beloved brother, uncle, and a loyal friend to many.

He loved to reminisce about his childhood in Brooklyn, and he found great joy in the outdoors—especially hunting and fishing. A true Italian at heart, he delighted in cooking homemade meals for his family, filling the house with warmth, laughter, and the aroma of his signature dishes.

Francis lived a full and meaningful life, and his memory will be carried on in the stories, traditions, and love he shared so freely.
