“ Jerry was a good friend. We shared a love of technology and talked about improving systems during long phone conversations. He was our first investor and added his Doctor of Finance credentials to the original discussions with the bank. We travelled to Binghamton, New York to gain acceptance in the "Startup New York" program that we later abandoned when the cost to rent the factory space was quoted well above anywhere else. Plus, the dinner in the best Italian restaurant in Binghamton included Katsup as the tomato sauce. He enjoyed a good laugh, and we enjoyed many. I miss him.

“ I remember Jerry as a very smart, loud, cheerful, and straightforward person. He was a fast learner and used to call my husband every day to exchange their expertise and experiences. When he learned about our invention, he soon want to find out about this technology, he tried the technology himself, adding juice with extreme arsenic pour over the oxidative adsorption medium, the test results showed zero arsenic, and it made the juice better quality, better color, and no change in nutrients. Soon he became the first enthusiast of this technology. Through his connections, he took us to New York State to find a production site. On the way home we stopped in New Jersey to have dinner with his wife Mary Lou, which was the only time I met Mary Lou, and we were very grateful to have won Mary Lou's trust and support to invest in our business. Mary Lou is a teacher, and I have not met her at any cold chain or IIAR conference.

My last time meet him was at Aqueous Solutions Global board meeting. I can't believe, Jerry precipitated the expansion of Aqueous Solutions Global and this is the only board meeting face to face in the last 10 years. and I feel so sorry he have not enjoy the success of the investment. I hope my husband and Aqueous Solutions Global all board members won't betrayal your trust on us.

Rest in Peace

Love you
