Of course the green candle is in memory of Jack the Irish Lad! I remember Liz and Jack sent me a picture of them at an outdoor trattoria in Italy AND Tom and I could not believe the size of the beer in Jack's hand - we couldn't wait to visit - Jack said order the GRANDE - and Tom did saying it was like drinking a six pack. We cherish the memories - THANKS Jack RIP

“ Jack, you were the best neighbor a person could have. George and I were so fortunate to have you and Liz next door for 19 years. I will miss picking up golf balls in our yard as you are hitting into your net. Be at peace Jack. Enjoy the endless games of golf. Our deepest sympathies to Liz and family. Love George Perini and Anna Olivieri xoxo

“ I had a paintball gun when I was 14. Jack told me that he was a sniper in the Marines and asked if he could see it. Handing it over, I told him that it had terrible accuracy. Without standing, he nailed a tree about about 60 yards away, dead center. He handed it back and said, “no, it’s accurate. That’s the one I was aiming for”. That put a big smile on my face. Jack was a noted marksman in the Marines and I was never able to achieve such accuracy with that paintball gun. As I think think back now, there was never a dull moment with Jack, also that forest was pretty dense...

“ One Friday afternoon when Jack was about 80, we are playing golf at his club in Old Tappan.

Me Jack and Ed Dietrich I am bragging to Ed how great Jack is at getting up and down from like 100 yards. Ed is thinking come on he can't be that good he is 80. He has trouble with his knees bending to get the ball out of the hole.

Well after 4 holes of Jackie boy putting on a clinic. Jack has 4 pars in a row.

Hole 5 Jack chips onto the green from 100 yards out and he is just on the bottom of the green. Pin is in the back right hand corner, he is like 40 feet away. Ed says laughing, if he makes this one I am going home. Jack is standing over the putt grinning with that twinkle in his eye. I swear to god yes he knocks in a winding putt. We could not stop laughing.

That is Jackie. Best short game I have ever seen.

Tommy Very funny and soo true. Jackie boy taught me the game and with that same twinkle in his eye when I was up at the tee and he was perfecting my drive and I thought " yeah Jack I got this now" and proceed to swing out of my shoes it goes 250 yds out and another 100 yds to the right Jack says " hey tough guy don't bother yelling four that ball is in Closter about now remember it's about the short game! " he says this as he walks away from tee box and chuckles...Classic Farrell
