“ Umma,
Happy Birthday!
Today is the second birthday that we celebrate without you here.
We miss you dearly & are thinking of you always.
I've come to realize that to miss someone when they are no longer here is a good thing, because that means that there is so much love for the person, and to miss them you always remember the time spent together, and your smile, & funny quirky humor, and comforting nature. I still find it hard to express in words how I miss you. All that I know is that I feel sad when I'm unable to dial the phone & hear your voice on the other end, and to sit across from you to share a meal. If you were beside me now I would hold your hand so tight and give you a million hugs. I am also thankful for the time that we did have together those are my comforting memories of you. Umma you are always in my heart each & everyday!! 💕
Love always,
Your daughter ❤️

“ Umma,

Today is mothers day, & it is the first one without you here. I miss you so very dearly, & if anything I've come to understand that you were always a great comfort to me. I never told you how much I loved you, and how special you are. It's interesting, all the experiences that we shared, which I felt were embarrassing at the time, are the fond memories that give me some comfort today. Remembering how you have always been there for me, makes me eternally grateful to you. You never complained if you were sad, or having a hard time, you always had a smile on your face with a little something funny to say to lighten the mood. I miss our senseless phone calls talking about nothing, but to just hear your voice, now I know how precious those times were. I pray that God is taking good care of you & hope you can hear my prayers at night, because I still do talk to you everyday. I miss you & I love you.

Mom Happy Mothers Day, One day I hope we can meet again so I can hand you a beautiful bouquet of roses, hug and kiss you on the face, hold your hand and tell you how you are the most amazing beautiful mom & that I love you. Take Care XOXO

Love you always, Hae Kyung

“ Auntie, thank you for your hard work. I leave a greeting on behalf of the regret that I can't go to say hello because I'm far away from Korea. Don't get sick anymore and be at peace. I'll remember my aunt for a long time.
