

Sivan

September 1, 2024

Sivan Mahadevan, a cherished individual known to be a great husband, father, friend, and colleague with a loving and caring personality, left us on September 1st 2024 at 10:40 am. He was an inspiration for everyone who was lucky to call him a friend, colleague, and most importantly family.

Sivan was born 1964 in San Diego and grew up in Los Angeles for most of his childhood. He graduated with a B.S. in Computer Science at UC Irvine.

Sivan then moved to New York City where he completed a MS in Computer Science at Columbia University. It was during his time at Columbia University was where he met his wife and our mother, Devika, being happily married for 34 years in Tenafly, NJ.

After spending a few years working at AT&T Bell Labs, Sivan made the bold decision to switch industries to start his career in finance at Salomon Brothers (now Citi). Subsequently, he moved to Morgan Stanley, where he worked for the last 26 years, heading Credit Research and subsequently Model Risk Management.

He is survived by his loving wife Devika, and his two sons, Ishaan and Amaan.

Family and friends are invited to visit Tuesday, 9-11AM at Barrett Leber Funeral Home, 148 Dean Drive., Tenafly, NJ. In lieu of flowers donations in his name to
