“ I am saddened today to read about my good friend and trading partner. Tommy and I (BOGI) stood next to each other for 14 years in the NYFE pit and shared the many ups and downs of trading together. Tommy was the smartest person I ever met and had an uncanny sense of reading the stock market. I recall many days where he and I would have our trading positions and I would question him about that and he would just say BOGI I know I am right and sure enough he turned out to be. We shared a lot of joy and pain together in that Pit. Many times after work we would go out and he would bring his trading cards for the day and after we settled in at the bar I would start calculating the profits or losses for the day. Somedays the numbers were staggering and he would just look at me and laugh. We shared many good times together and the one I remember most is when he had his worst day ever and he said BOGI let's go out and we walked over to the Battery Park Garage where he parked his car. The battery was dead and he was parked near the top of the garage. I gave him a push and then jumped in and he started down the ramps occasionally banging the side of the walls on the way down and he was laughing all the way. I am going to miss him Dearly as he was a very big part of my life for so many years. Robert Szilagy (BOGI)

“ Yes, TPT was a legend at the NYFE. Him and BOG standing next to each other. Tom taking huge positions. Other traders expected he would blow out someday, but he never did. I can still hear his voice, "75 on 2" RIP Tom. Mike Quigley

“ I have just learned of the passing of my life long friend Tommy Traina. I met Tommy at the age of 5 when I moved to Oak St. in Tenafly, 3 houses away from the Traina's. Our first meeting, actually an encounter, occurred when I "trespassed" into his backyard and we got into a wrestling match at the age of 5. We never fought again. There are so many memories, his Corvettes, motorcycles, Hampton trips, the Montreal Olympics and shooting hoops in his driveway. He was beyond smart and I cannot remember an argument that I actually won from Tommy. I will miss Tommy but cherish the memories I have of him.

“ Tom aka "Trader Boy" was best man at our wedding in 1993. Tommy and I became fast friends when our paths crossed at "Widow McShea's" in Hoboken. We used to meet after work have a few beers and laugh about the insanity that Tommy experienced in the Futures pit. I'll never forget Tommy's hearty laugh that was incredibly contagious as he relaxed and enjoyed his Merit cigarettes. Linda, Sally, Tommy and I often ended our days at Leo's Italian Restaurant. At the time Leo's had the best veal in town. Tommy had as big a heart, sense of humor and charisma as anyone I've ever known. I'm sad but relieved that the Trader Boy is sleeping in peace. The good ones go too soon. We love you Tommy.

“ Whenever I watch SEINFELD, I think of Tom. I remember his laugh, his ready smile, quick wit and self-deprecating humor. He was a wonderful friend with a keen intellect who could talk about anything, often using words I'd need a dictionary to understand. He loved the stock market and was a Legend on the NY Futures Exchange. He also loved Seinfeld, old black and white movies, the Sunday NYT Crossword puzzle, linguine with white clam sauce (fresh clams only), driving fast on curvy roads, and spending time with his family and friends. He was special. He'll always occupy a special place in my heart.

“ Our long-time friend and riding buddy, and Julie's political interlocutor, has ridden to the beyond, leaving us to mourn but also remember him with fondness for his irreverent wit and humor. We shall miss him.

“ Tom aka ‘TT’ was my BC roommate, fraternity brother and dear friend. Smart, often mischievous & funny with an infectious laugh. So many great stories about TT, John Yackalus, Billy Zak and me at our various off campus apartments Sophomore thru Senior Years. My wife Becky finally got to meet Tom at our 50th BC reunion and they became fast friends. We will miss him. Rest In Peace 🙏
